HUNTERS SEND QUAIL TO FRIENDS

Bags of quail arrived in the city yesterday, as the result of the hunt which was started upon last Saturday night. The merry hunters had three days of capital sport in Independence, and then began shipping quail. They remembered their friends in Tonopah and the promises to them, and they expressed in the tender birds by the bunch. There will be a number of quail feasts today and some very dainty breakfasts prepared this morning.

The hunters who set out were Jim McQuillan, Billy Douglass, Tom Risch, Tom Kendall, Ed. Malley, Ross Condon, Bob Stewart, Cal Shaw, Charley Sawyer, Dave Holland and Paddy Grimes.

Mr. McQuillan returned last night, being obliged to come back in consequence of the meeting of the county commissioners tomorrow. He left the rest of the party going after the ducks, and another feast in the shape of ducks is promised for the middle of the week.

Rev. Mr. Klass of the Presbyterian church, who has been away for a few days in Los Angeles, accompanied by Mrs. Klass, returned yesterday and will hold services today as usual.

Harry Litt of Portland, Ore., and Mr. Hershey of Oakland, will leave for Ubehebe this morning with Valentine Hush. They arrived just too late to go down with the party which left in the private car on Friday morning.

E. J. Hersey, president of the Garden City Mining Company, passed through here from Goldfield last night on his way to San Jose. He came here from California on Thursday night, and has been in conference with Leonard Crane, local manager of the mine, going over to Goldfield yesterday morning.

Quite a party left for Manhattan yesterday morning in the O'Meara auto, chauffeured by Kirk Simpson. In the party were Mr. and Mrs. F. B. ### RICH SAMPLES FROM KLONDYKE

VERY HIGH VALUES OBTAINED IN BOTH GOLD AND SILVER.

J. G. Court, the original locator in the Klondyke district, the man who was here when Jim Butler came, was a visitor to the city from Klondyke yesterday. Mr. Court, in the days when Tonopah was discovered, was at Klondyke, and is still there. He is vice-president of the Original Klondyke Company, from the property of which $50,000 have been taken by leasers.

Jim Butler was on his way to Klondyke when he discovered Tonopah, and he is one of those who still swear by Klondyke, and who has some valuable interests there now. Mr. Court brought in with him some of the richest samples of silver and gold and silver that have ever been seen in this camp, and that is saying a great deal. The samples came from the surface, and assays have shown 2975 ounces of silver to the ton. Mr. Court brought in a sample of black metal yesterday which is said to be richer than anything that has yet come out of the property.

They are crosscutting and drifting now at depth, which will bring them five hundred feet below the croppings, and a crosscut is also being run which will bring them under a big dyke where it is expected that rich finds will be made.

George A. Bartlett is interested with Court and his partner in the Original Klondyke, the officers and directors being as follows:

Senator T. J. Bell, president; vice-president, J. G. Court; George A. Bartlett, Henry M. Reeves, secretary. Mr. Court located the Golden Anchor ground in 1884, but let it lapse, and was afterwards one of the locators in 1901, after Butler had located the Mizpah.
